

WHAT 16 STUDIES SAY ABOUT Best Time To Post On Social Media

All too often, we're asked the question, "When is the best time to post on social media?" Here is your ultimate guide compiling data from 16 studies to give you the absolute best times and days to reach your audience on Facebook, Twitter, LinkedIn, Pinterest, Instagram, and Google+.

80% of the U.S. population is in the Central and Eastern time zones.

So, in theory, the Eastern or Central timezone would be the best time to base off for a United States audience.

More Networks = More Engagement

Twitter is effective each day of the week, but remember to consider your audience.

Facebook	Twitter	Pinterest	Google+
Facebook is broadly used on mobile and desktop, at work and at home. It really depends on the audience as far as who and how it is used.	Twitter is a hard nut to crack, and definitely audience dependant, like Facebook. It is often treated like an RSS feed, and something to read during down times like commutes, breaks, and so on.	Pinterest users seem to make network activity an evening sport, much like sitting down to TV in the evening during their free time.	Google+ also targets work professionals with the average users interacting in the early morning.
Instagram users are on a platform meant for mobile, and that means they tend to use the network all the time, any time.	LinkedIn is for professionals, and they tend to use it around work hours.
